SUR

"We're the Juniors, staunch and true, We always paddle our own canoe."

In the fall of nineteen hundred twenty-eight, a band of brave (?) Scouts set forth on a journey into a new, and to them, unknown territory. Many were the legends that had been handed down to them concerning the trials and dangers which lurked along their path. Nevertheless, like true braves, they did not falter in their cause. They felt that, guided by the Great Spirit, Knowledge, they could not fail in their quest for the happy hunting grounds of Life. Of the struggles and hardships they met during the first two years we will say nothing.

Two winters glided by. Having grown braver and wiser through many trying experiences, they began another year, this time under the tribal name of Juniors. For the mighty chief of their clan, they chose Marjorie Johannes. John Dworak was to assist them in her absence. Francis Anderl and Emil Kucera were chosen for the Keeper of the Birch bark and Keeper of the Wampum respectively. James Keill and Mary Ellen Keating they decided should act as their representatives at the Student Pow-wow. The rest of them remained loyal scouts ever ready to fight for the honor of the tribe.

Sophomores

Harken my children, you shall not pass 'Till you hear the history of the sophomore class.

'Twas early in September of 1929 When sixty bright green freshies, Came whizzing down the line.

Their faces shone, their eyes were Bright, their heads were hard as flint.

If the reason wasn't Listerine It must be Golden Glint.

They were treated very kindly By the Seniors and the rest But of all the entertainment

They liked walking home the best. Well, they had to have a meeting

Their class officers to choose For President, Miss Dworak

Bearer of all scholastic news.

Miss Blackstone played Vice-President Its' not a game you know

While Louis Marushak was Treasurer A wee bird told me so.

That year they had two parties In the gym and at the park

(It's not the kind you're thinking of For Freshies never spark.) Then again in 1930, they decided to come back.

Poor things they study now so hard their backbones nearly crack.

Their eyes are dim and filled with tears There only is one pitiful sight,---

A Sophomore gaining years.

We had another meeting,

The officers to plan.

And by a great majority

Miss Neill must head the clan. Mr. Krajicek was Vice-President

Miss McDonald, tax collector

And the responsibility of money Mighty nearly wrecked her.

They had another party, Went skating at the rink

From all their falls and stumbles,

They were sore next day, I think. But now the school year's ending

And our eyes, with tears, are getting blind

For there are many happy memories, Which we must leave behind.

Freshmen

"Tick, Tock," said the clock, trying to catch the attention of the piano. What bright lads these freshmen have turned out to be."

"Yes," said the piano, "I can remember when they all came scrambling in on Sept. 2 with such happy expressions on their shining faces. But the expression became much wiser after they were taken for a few rides."

"I remember. They certainly elected some brilliant students for class officers. Ruth Kilgore as President John Brewer as Vice-President, and Lois Lichliter as Secretary and Treasurer. Donald Nabity and Virginia Blackstone were elected as class representatives in the Student Council.

"Yes, that is true. They had one class party. I heard Lucille Buck-ley telling that Verle Craft was supposed to be there and start the fire and he came a half an hour late. They are looking forward to another party very eagerly."

"I guess they had a good time. I heard that Miss Quillan, Miss Shafersman, and Mr. Elliott were their sponsors. The freshmen greatly appreciated them because of their work to make the party a success."

"I hear that Donald Nabity and Alan Penrod are promising athletes. The freshmen beat the sophomores in Olympics by a good margin."

"These freshmen have turned out very well. In fact, much better than the four preceding years.

The Student Council

1931 0

The student council represents the student governing body of the David City High School. It has been a very active and successful organization since it was adopted in 1926.

The purpose of this organization is to discuss matters which pertain to student activities, especially to stress student government.

This means that the students of David City High School are given a chance to show their self-reliance. They are placed on their honor to direct the course of student activities into higher channels.

Since its origin the Student Council has sponsored many fine chapel programs and planned many rallies. It promotes the selling of football tickets. Also it elects the cheer leaders for the term of one year.

The Council is now composed of ten representatives, three from each of the two upper classes and two from the lower classes. Every one puts forth his best efforts to raise the standard of the school.

Mr. Ritchey has been the sponsor since the beginning of this organization.

The officers for this year are:

"If you ask me," said St. Peter shaking his white head gloomily, "This judgement day business is a warty one. After the next session I'm quit ting. I think I've done just about enough. Who's next?

"Class of 1931, High School of David City, Nebraska, United States of America," read Gabriel from a huge book. "This is small, it won't take long."

"Well," said St. Peter yawning, "Let's begin. First?"

"Arline Becak, female, unmarried, died at the age of 67 of St. Vitus dance. Worked as an extra in Hollywood for 45 years. A few bad habits."

"Enough. She had marvelous patience. Elevator going up."

"Edward Boha ty, male, married, died at the age of 33 as a result of his wife's rolling pin," continued Gabriel.

"Poor henpecked man," mused St. Peter shaking his head thoughtfully. "Elevator going up. He won't cause any trouble in Heaven. Who was his wife?"

""Tillie Krenk, sir, of the same class. Shall I look her up?"

"Find out if the assault was accidental or intentional."

"Says see page 5,555. Here we are. Intentional sir. She got tired of looking up to him."

"Elevator going down."

"Kathleen Brewer, female, married, case of true love, lived peacefully," caused no disturbances, died at the age of 82 as a result of pneumonia."

"Elevator going up. Both she and her husband. Who was he?

"Charles Richards sir. Shall I look him up?"

"That's not necessary. Send him with her. Next."

"Maurice Buckley, male, lived a life of a gangster. Killed 15 men, attempted..."

"Enough," exclaimed St. Peter, "down he goes."

"Next is Jack Collins, male, died at the age of 106 after an eventful and terrible life. He repented the last five minutes of his time on earth. During his life he aspired to be a second Francois Millet but reached his limit in drawing for comic strips."

"Elevator going up. He deserves a break."

"Fred Coufal, male. Died at the age of 27 of hearts disease. He was a country lad and she was a millionaire. Same old story, she took advantage of him—"

"Yes, I know. Elevator going up."

"Madeline Craft was the woman sir. Hostess in a Night Club, you know the type."

"Send her down. Give the devil a break."

"Blanche Danaher, female, she fed her husband toadstools because of a remark he made about it taking her so long to dress because she had to slow down for the curves."

"That was a dirty crack, still we don't want anyone with a temper like that in heaven. Down she goes. Who was the poor sap that was fed toadstools?"

Class Prophecy

"Wilbur Hahn, meek and docile, dumb but obliging."

"Send him up. He won't cause any trouble. Next?"

John Doty sir, male, spent practically all of his time at the City Theatre."

"And the attraction?"

"Ramona Hahn sir. He died young and she remained an old maid." "Send them up."

"Next is Kathryn Franklin female, editor of a small town newspaper. She went into fits because she found a period upside down."

"Elevator going up. We need a new editor for Heaven's newspaper. The articles are getting too monotonous. Next."

"Mildred Hein sir, female, she drove the neighbors insane the way she pounded on a baby grand piano she got for her birthday."

"Aha!" exclaimed St. Peter. "Musical talent is just what we need. Send her up."

"Bonita Hittle, female, aspired to be an opera singer. She sang so hard she broke her vocal cords."

"I guess she can go up. Aren't we almost through?"

"Oh no, there is still a long list. Next comes Elsie Husak, female, she flung blue vitriol at her husband because he spent so much time in front of the mirror retouching the wave in his hair."

"She goes down and her husband too. His name?"

"Donald Kepner sir."

"Well, send them both down."

"Creighton Johannes is next. Studebaker dealer. No outstandingly bad habits. Bragged about his business."

"Perfectly natural. Send him up."

"Marie Kelley, female, clerk in a ten cent store. She had a habit of borrowing a sack of something and forgetting to return it. However the management failed to notice it."

"Send her down. You know how small habits grow."

"Next is Edith Kilgore, female, she had a slight lisp and long curls and she drove her husband crazy because he always found hairs in his soup. After he was taken to the asylum she shaved off her hair and caught pneumonia and passed away. Her husband was Clark Kindler."

"Send him up and send her down."

"Helen Kucera, female, died at the age of 96 unmarried. Spent her life looking for a husband but failed to find any who suited her and anyone who would accept her."

"Send her up. She won't cause any trouble."

"Darrel Marquis, male, didn't believe in love and so missed half the spice of life. A perfectly staid sensible person."

"Send him up. Next," said St. Peter wearily.

"Pauline Masek, female, died a natural death, known as the world's greatest advocator of Women's Suffrage Rights."

"That's a good policy, send her up."

The Good Ship Thirty-one

93

We, the Class of Thirty-one, boarded the Ship of Knowledge bright and early on September sixth, nineteen hundred and twenty-seven, on a four year journey to the far shore of Graduation.

In our first endeavor, the olympics, we met with defeat, being beaten by our superiors, the sophomores. Realizing our social importance we held three parties under the banner of verdant green.

The state of the state

As sophomores, we again entered the olympics but this time we were victorious and gave to the freshmen just as much of a defeat as we had received. The girls on board developed an overwhelming desire for partaking in athletics. Track was proposed but overruled by the majority. This year at sea held for us the very unique experience of being influenced by a practical and economical intention and therefore we arrayed ourselves in such uniforms as overalls and smocks.

The Junior-Senior banquet at which, we, in our junior year entertained the Senior class proved to be the biggest of our nautical problems. It was carried out successfully by the efforts of the entire crew. A pirate scheme was used in decorations and program.

Our last year aboard the Ship of Knowledge was much the same as that of any other. Much impatience and last minute instructions were evident. The shore of Graduation loomed into view. Our Ship would soon be anchored. A Banquet was given in our honor. The class play, Graduation and Baccalaureate Exercises were carried out in due and ancient form. Our voyage was over, its memories will linger always.

Class Play

1931

On May 12, the Class of '31 presented the three-act play "Dulcy" by George S. Kaueman and Marc Connelly.

Dulcinea Smith, the ambitious young wife of Gordon Smith, invites a number of guests to her home for the week-end. C. Roger Forbes, a business man whom Mr. Smith is particularly anxious to please has been invited. Dulcy's well intentioned but blundering efforts to further her husband's interests are almost disasterous. With a faint heart and perspiring brow, Mr. Smith sees his air castles crumble to earth in the dim distance due to his wife's verbosity. At the last moment, however, his fortunes are retrieved and everyone is happy. The characters in this remarkable farce were:

Dulcinea	Arline Becak
Gordon Smith	Darrel Marquis
William Parker	Creighton Johannes
C. Roger Forbes	Wayne Enyeart
Mrs. Forbes	Edna Oltmans
Angela Forbes	Madeline Craft
Schuyler Van Dyck	Edward Bohaty
Tom Sterrett	Donald Kepner
Vincent Leach	Charles Richards
Mrs. Patterson	Pauline Masek
Mrs. Weir	Gertrude Spatz
Marie	Elsie Husak

May

David City did not have such a successful season this year as in previous seasons. The first was the only game we won. The winning score in this skirmish came late in the fourth-quarter on a pass. The next three games were lost to Columbus, Stanton and Central City without a score by the home team. The next game was with Osceola. David City scored on a pass, Keill to Kepner who ran eighty yards for a touchdown. Tomek converted the extra point and the score was seven to nothing. However, Osceola scored two touchdowns and won the game. The next game dropped was to the undefeated Seward team. Our game with Ulysses was called off. We took on Schuyler and lost by a very lop-sided score.

D. C. Club

The "D. C." Club serves as a bond to unite all the athletes of David City High School, helping to maintain a high standard of sportsmanship among them.

The following men earned their letter the past year and joined the club: Tomek, Marquis, Bates, Delaney, Potter, Myers, Perkins, Bolton, Etting, Kucera and Krajicek.

The officers of the club for the past year were: Donald Kepner, president; John Doty, vice president; and Ellis Witkowski, sécretary-treasurer.

Coach Elliott's basketeers played fourteen games during the 1930 season and took part in the County and Regional tournaments.

At the opening of the season there were 25 or 30 students out for practice.

Coach Elliott has been building his team for the next season as only Marquis and Kepner go^{*}from the team by graduation.

The first line-up was as follows: Kepner and Krajicek forwards; Etting at center; Marquis and Keill, guards. Substitutes, Bolton, Delaney and Tomek.

In the first game of the season, our quintet tripped forth in their new suits and defeated Ulysses 19-18, two extra periods being played.

The team lost five games, to Dwight, Bellwood, Osceola, Seward and Schuyler respectively, then defeated the Wesleyan quintet 16-15 on the David City floor. The next game was lost to Brainard, in a close, hardfought game, the score being 14-17 in favor of Brainard.

Schuyler again defeated David City in the David City gym and Columbus defeated David City in the Columbus gym, this being the last game before the tournament.

At the county tournament David City drew Bellwood as their first opponents and defeated their team 25-24. Our quintet lost their next game to Dwight in a very fast game, the score being 23-20.

At the regional tournament at Columbus, our team played Howells, 25-21, the winners of the sectional tournament held at Columbus. In the next game we were defeated by Columbus 10-29.

Dramatics

931

The Dramatics Club, under the supervision of Miss Innis has been successful in furnishing programs for the High School Assembly and also for numerous organizations and social affairs.

Every year the Dramatics Club puts on a program for the public consisting of three one-act plays.

This year the members representing the David City High School in the Sub-District Declamatory Contest were: in the Oratorical, "The Wandering Jew," by Pauline Masek; in the Dramatic, "The Valiant," by Charles Richards; in the Humorous, "A Friday Afternoon Program," in a Rural School," by Arline Becak. Each placed third in his own division.

A Stand

R alla

The Normal Training Club has led an interesting and enjoyable life during the fifth year of its existence.

In spite of our late start this year, we have accomplished much not only in a social way but also from an educational standpoint.

The main project has been the making and painting of reed baskets. Some of them, we feel, we have reason to be proud of.

We have done some seat-work in preparation for practice teaching, and are planning to do some wood-work in the near future.

There are several boys in the club this year and even though they will not admit it we know that they even enjoyed our two parties.

Our Christmas party was held at the home of Dorothy Neill, and our St. Patrick's party at Marian Herrick's home. Both were very enjoyable, except for the moth-ball sandwiches.

Our annual expedition, taken to Lincoln via air-rail, was very enjoyable, and adventurous. A visit was made to many places of interest and beauty.

Time and again a firm resolution for a strict diet has been broken because of our tempting lunches. These lunches proved irresistible after several hours of hard work. Ask Miss Hoffman.

Our Normal Training Clip Club should and does make a very effective advertisement for "bigger and better teachers."

RADO

The Home Economics Club was organized three years ago for the purpose of providing social contact. Every two weeks the girls enjoy a party at which games are played followed by a lunch. During the month of October the club had a weiner roast at the park.

Sometimes luncheons for special occasions have been served by the girls. Such variation is encouraged that the club members may learn to prepare and serve the things in which they are most interested and which are in demand locally at particular times. It stimulates an interest, brings enjoyment and vitalizes the work of the school.

The officers for this year are:

Notes From The David City Bugle

931

The class of '81 marched sedately and quietly up the stairs and greeted me decorously. As the discussion started, I looked upon my pupils with ingrowing pride. We disposed of our lesson quickly and I called for new ideas for the morrow. Charlie Richards Jr. proposed a comprehensive reading of Aurelius' Marcus "Meditations." His suggestion was greeted with outward mani-festations of pleasure. Willie Bates then suggested that we go on to the extensive study of the works of Socrates, Plato and Aristotle. We then made posters for the major athletic events of the yearthe inter-scholastic domino and tiddledy winks tournaments in which three members of our class are participants. They are Eddie Bohaty, Jackie Collins, and Freddie Coufal.

We then received a delightful surprise. John Doty, our superintendent of schools and Miss Paline Masek, janitor, brought an old friend and schoolmate of theirs to lecture to us; Mr. Don Edwardo Kepner who is an eminent ditch-digger in this city. Light refreshments of knuckles and sauerpigs kraut, corned beef and cabbage, boiled beef and dumplings, mashed potatoes and gravy, and mince pie were served. Reported by-

Miss Arline Becak, Teacher of English 12, Class of 1981.

Girls Glee Club

931

The Girls' Glee Club this year has, without a doubt, been a great success. They have learned several difficult selections.

The members took part in the Christmas cantata entitled "The Christmas Adoration," given by the music department, also in the high school operetta, "The Belle of Bagdad." The girls entertained in a program during music week, in a program on Armistice day, and at the County Teachers meeting, receiving much praise and applause. Their numbers on the commencement program were greatly enjoyed by everyone.

Entered at the district contest at Omaha on April 4th, we placed second in this contest. This entitles us to take part in the State contest at-Lincoln May 2nd.
