It's hard to recapture a laugh or even a smile, for the magic of life and living isn't easily covered by an annual staff. Yet, we hope the pages that follow will be a looking glass for all who wish to look back. The year had its own special meaning for everyone but it's those precious moments that we all shared that cause us to look back and remember ... the year 1979.

"CLEAR YOUR DESK . . .

Get your books out ... Open to page 27 ... Begin reading ... Our lesson for today ... Do you know what that bell represents? ... Who's absent? ... You're tardy ... Go get a slip These are just a few of the phrases said throughout the school year by the faculty. They try to get the point across. Don't they?

Along with their hectic, daily routine, time is taken out to update themselves in their field. For the second year, a C-10 Inservice Day was held in which the teachers of the C-10 Conference got together and shared their ideas. The faculty may attend workshops throughout the year and summer school during their summer vacation.

Posing on the steps of DCHS are athletic director and acting assistant principal, Ted Koehn; principal, Paul Chaney; and superintendent, Glen Beran.

Secretaries Beverly Howe, Gayle Henry, and Miny Smith take time off from a busy day for a picture.

Standing behind a new range are the home economics teachers, Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Struebing.

Miss Sue Petersen, teacher of the freshman and junior English classes, is shown sitting next to Miss Killeen who has taught sophomore and senior English.

The Math and Science department hold "Show and Tell" outside the doors of DCHS. Mr. Jones points out the problems with a crash diet as Mr. Koehn smiles at the thought of having the world in his hands. Mr. Masek uses these dimensional figures to plot the shortest bicycle route to school. Mr. Richardson tells us that it was a tiny replica of a muscle man just like he holds that first inspired the "Mr. Universe" competition.

Sitting is Miss Mona Petersen, teacher of steno, office machines, and typing. Standing is Miss Kristi Krueger, teacher of typing, accounting, general business, and journalism.

Mr. Kamrath teaches shop and mechanical drawing. Standing, is Mr. Angell, instructor of vocational agriculture and shop 7, and 8.

Shown here is Mr. Rose, our replacement teacher for Miss Killeen's sophomore and senior English classes. He is sitting by one of his favorite students, Bob Speicher.

Sitting on the basement steps are Mr. Rech and Mr. Turman, physical education instructors at DCHS.

Posing by Mr. Hutchinson's sporty speedster are three fine works of art. They are Mr. Warren, art instructor; Miss Haag, vocal music teacher; and Mr. Hutchinson, band director.

Showing their smiling talent are Wayne Arnold, guidance counselor; Rocky Barnes, special education instructor; and Dorothy Byers, librarian.

Bus drivers are Margaret Zeilinger, Peggy Pillar, Howard Kovar, Bob Greenwood, Donna Allen, and Margaret Romshek.

Mrs. Tomek, the school nurse, is hard at work.

The cooks are Pat Mohler, Jane McElravy, Mildred Wright, and Grace Kovar.

The janitors are Gerald Petersen, Bob Greenwood, and Glenn Ladwig.

Bridging the gap between elementary and high school are Jr. High teachers Irene Fadschild and Dale Cooper.

Miss Haag and Miss Barnes give their bubble gum recipe a try during one of the snow days DCHS had last winter.

DCHS CHALLENGES FROSH

In the fall of 1978 fifty-four new freshman faces were seen at DCHS. The freshman class seemed to be very energetic. They were always ready, willing, and able to do more than their share.

After overcoming the anxiety and fear of being underclassmen, they soon settled down to high school life. As the year progressed, the freshman class proved to be outstanding throughout the year. Many major accomplishments were made, and progress was achieved. The freshmen were involved in many activities such as band, sports, drama, choir, and clubs.

Some of their biggest challenges this year were trying to stay awake during Mr. Masek's algebra class, trying to get all their books in their locker, getting the upperclassmen off their back, making new friends, and working in all their extra activities.

We are looking forward to seeing them as a great Sophomore class next year.

SOPHOMORES MOVE UP ONE MORE STEP

As sophomores, these students learn that being a sophomore is just another step up the ladder of education. Learning is a constant process that will not stop at the end of their sophomore year or even at the end of their senior year — it continues throughout life.

JUNIORS FORGE AHEAD

The junior class, led by Mr. Maret and Mr. Warren, was the largest in the school with 68 students. This year the juniors had $12 dues to help pay for prom. One of the highlights for them was receiving their class rings. Fourteen juniors attended County Government Day on March 13. Three new additions to the class this year were brothers Greg and Todd Montgomery and Val Cresson.

This year's junior class officers are Pete Kaufmann, president; Tracy Reitz, secretary; Chuck Jenkins, vice president; James Weber, sergeant-at-arms; and Andy Hruska, treasurer.

"TODAY WE FOLLOW, . . .

What's this? Could it be? Is it possible? No, it just can't be Mark Doehling Studying!!!

This year there were sixty Seniors all anxiously awaiting their hour of triumph. Throughout their four years they had many wonderful and exciting times learning many valuable lessons to carry them through life. It was only natural that they were a little sad at leaving old friends and places, but at the same time they were very enthusiastic about their futures.

During their Junior year they chose their class motto, flower, and colors. Their motto was, "Today we follow, tomorrow we lead," their flower was the blue carnation, and their colors were ice blue and sapphire blue.

CHOIR SINGS INTO ACTION

This year it was business as usual for the David City High School Varsity Choir as they sang and danced their way into the hearts of many. Their success can be greatly attributed to Miss Georgia Haag, the vocal music Miss Haag was aided part of the time by two student teachers, Mr. Michael Morris and Mr. Mark Newton.

The Varsity Choir, Swing Choir, Triple Trio, Mixed Quartet, Boy's Quartet, Girl's Duet, and various soloists fared extremely well at the District Music Contest. Those receiving superior ratings were Swing Choir, Triple Trio, Mixed Quartet, Boy's Quartet, Girl's Duet and Soloists Mitch Heins, Randy McElravy, Renee Comte, Patti Barlean, Carolyn Romshek, and Piano Soloist, Jennifer Heins.

In addition to the District Music Contest, Choir members also participated in the Albion Choral Clinic and sponsored a Swing Choir Clinic with the help of the Wesleyan Swing Choir. The Choir and Swing Choir held their annual Christmas and Spring Concerts and performed at Baccalaureate and Commencement exercises.

FRONTIER DAYS VISITED

This year's marching band was busy with many activities. Besides the usual marching at half-time and at parades, this year the band also took a trip to Cheyenne, Wyoming. They participated in the "Frontier Days" parade. There were many other interesting sites visited. Some of these included Estes Park, Casa Bonita, and other places in Colorado. All in all, everyone had a good time and the band did a great job.

The 1978-79 marching band takes a break from practice to pose for a picture. Time is very important when planning performances.

Leading this year's marching band are majorettes Meg Klosterman and Max Martin.

SMALL GROUPS FARE WELL AT CONTEST

The band did very well at contest this year. Out of the eight entries taken, four received superior ratings, while the other four received excellent ratings. Those groups receiving superior ratings were brass choir, the concert band, a brass clarinet solo by Kim Otte, and a piano solo by Jennifer Heins. Those groups receiving excellent ratings were stage band, saxophone quartet, mixed brass quartet, and flute duet. Overall, the band came home with good ratings.

The people shown here are all members of the brass choir which performed at contest and received a superior rating.

This year's band council include (Kneeling): Pete Kaufmann, junior representative; Mitch Heins, vice-president; (Sitting): Pam Bartlett, sophomore representative; Barb Mahlin, president; Karen Zinnecker, freshmen representative; Kent Grotelueschen, junior representative.

The flute duet consisting of Sue Armagost and Carmen Romshek received an excellent rating at contest.

Soloists this year were Jennifer Heins and Kim Otte. Jennifer received a superior rating on her piano solo, Kim received a superior on her bass clarinet solo.

Jennifer Heins, Barb Mahlin, Donna Marquis, and Greg Palik composed the saxophone quartet which also received an excellent rating.

The brass quartet consisting of Karen Zinnecker, Marvis Hunsche, Rhesa Gilliland, and Anne Montag received an excellent rating at contest.

THESPIANS "QUACK" UP

The Thespians were active this year, participating in the musical, the all school play, and speech activities. They were honored in the spring at the annual Thespian Awards Banquet.

One of the highlights of the year was the Dinner Theatre which honored Walt Disney and many of his well-known creations. While many of his characters served the meal, other Thespian members presented their own versions of tales that might have made Disney himself "quack" up.

Thespian officers are Randy McElravy, sergeant-at-arms; Brenda Brockevelt, vice president; Nancy Klingemann, president; Carolyn Romshek, secretary, Rick Prochaska, treasurer.

Thespian members are (Front Row): Meg Klosterman, Suzi Wright, Paula Meister, Cindy Shrader, Annette Hlavac, Shelley O'Dell, Renee Comte, Barb Mahlin, Lori Lnenicka (Kneeling): Peggy Kovar, Nancy Klingemann, Brenda Brockevelt (Back Row): Rick Prochaska, Kim Grubaugh, Mitch Heins, Terry Kovar, Lori Boggs, Brian Foreman, Andy Hruska, Mark Doehling, Anna Klosterman, Greg Palik, Patti Barlean, Bonnie DeWispelare, Randy McElravy, Carolyn Romshek, Rhessa Gilliland, Heidi Ruth, and former sponsor, Miss Pat Killeen.

Here we see a group of dedicated actors and actresses waiting to try out for the All School Play.

Carolyn Romshek, Bonnie DeWispelare, and Cindy Shrader did their version of "Disco-rela" for the Thespian Dinner Theatre. Renee Comte (kneeling) played the part of Disco-rela.

Chief Thespian, Steve Rose, and interested female thespians discuss upcoming events.

Also from the Dinner Theatre, we see Uncle Donald (Rick Prochaska), Luey (Suzi Wright), Duey (Andy Hruska), and Huey (Meg Klosterman).

Other members listen as plans are made.

NEW CLASS FORMED

This year the newspaper and yearbook staffs were organized in much the same manner as years past but with one major difference. This year a class period was set aside in which students could work on the newspaper and yearbook. Those students who could not be scheduled into the class worked in the journalism room during their study halls. This arrangement made it much easier for all concerned.

FHA & FFA ON THE MOVE . . .

Once again it has been a hectic year for the Future Homemakers and Future Farmers. Joint projects such as Coronation, roller skating and caroling parties, a bake-off, the annual Awards Banquet, and operation of a concession stand at all home football and volleyball games, occupied much of their time. Under the supervision of Mrs. Davis and Mr. Angell, all projects were successful and were enjoyed by all members.

This year the FHA members busied themselves with their annual projects: Membership Drive, Initiation, Parents Appreciation Night, Soup Supper, FHA Week, Installation of new officers, State Convention, and an Adopted Grandparents Program. New experiences this year were: a softball game against the East Butler Chapter, hosting District Convention, a catering service, and the acquisition of two male members.

Meanwhile, FFA had their hands full with FFA Week, State Contest, District Contest, Election of Officers, State Convention, Land Judging Contests, Livestock Judging Contests, and the operation of a Children's Barnyard at the County Fair.

Upper Left: Presidents Prochaska and Romshek show that togetherness is one key to the success of both organizations. S.C. KEEPS BUSY

Student Council was involved in various activities this year. Halloween began the excitement when many high-spirited students drastically changed their appearance (some for the better). In December a Christmas tree was placed in Study Hall for all the students to look at and dream of the night Santa would come. The newest addition to the school was a pop machine, which everyone enjoyed. Eighth grade visitation day, also sponsored by Student Council, was a good experience for future freshmen. Parent-Teacher conferences helped parents realize how bad off their children were. Student Council had a good year.

PEP CLUB ON THE GO

The Scouts were cheered on to victory by the pep club. This year their main event was sponsoring the homecoming dance. Parents' night for all sports was also sponsored by the pep club. They were involved in many money-making projects such as working in concession stands at boys' basketball games and the grueling job of trying to sell hats to people who already had them. This year the girls were kept busy with their sports. With a requirement of a certain amount of away games for each sport, they hurried from practice to catch the bus and support the guys. Other than just cheering at the games, the girls also put on pep rallies for all three sports. There were also many signs lining the halls which were made by the pep club. Besides the fact that the varsity cheerleaders didn't get their sweaters until the last football game, this year's pep club was successful in promoting pep and spirit.

CLUB BUYS LEAPER

D C Club had a very successful year. With plenty of money in the treasury, they voted to purchase a leaper for those students participating in athletic activities. The leaper can be used in all the sports.

Initiations began the new year. D C Club and Pep Club had fun working together and decorating for Homecoming. The costs of the floats and the band, Blue Haze, were split by the two clubs. D C Club ran the concession stand at the girls' basketball games and the wrestling meets for those fans who got hungry. On February 10, D C Club sponsored a Valentine's Dance with DeJa-Vu for the entertainment. The dance was held in the multi-purpose room which was decorated for the occasion. During the winter sports season D C Club held a drawing for $150 of gasoline and $150 of groceries. The winners of the drawing were Nancy Rooney and Bert Weber. At the end of the year D C Club held their annual steak feed at which the sponsors cooked for the members.

1978 was a good year for the Scouts who finished 4-5 overall. The Scouts scored their victories via shut outs against Howells, York, Ashland, and Fullerton. The scores were 16-0, 16-0, 14-0, 14-0 respectively. Second year Head Coach Tim Turman called the year disappointing despite the shutouts and having three players placed on the All Central 10 Conference team (eastern division). The players named to the squad were Kim Grubaugh, Mark Chaney, and Tom Miller with several other Scouts who just missed out by a few votes. So despite a disappointing year, the Scouts provided the fans with much exciting action.

SEASON UPDATE

The Scout Volleyball team had a very successful season this year with a winning record of 10-6. Some of the accomplishments included getting into the semi-finals at the C-10 volleyball tourney and getting past first round in districts only to be beaten by a top-rated team. These two things have never been done before at D.C.H.S.

The reserve squad had an excellent season with a record of 7-3. They showed good teamwork and much spirit all through the season.

The freshmen team had a 1-9 record, with the highlight of their season being their first win at the North Bend tournament.

The support from the crowd was fantastic and the girls really appreciated it. The yelling from the stands was of vital importance as witnessed in many games when the crowd helped the teams make it through some rough times.

Coach Petersen's comments for the season were, "We ran the defense patterns better and had a well balanced offense." When asked about next year's goals, she said, "We need to run a more consistent offense and have a team togetherness throughout the whole season."

COACH SUMS IT UP

"We have had a satisfying year in wrestling. Several records were broken. Regretfully, we will lose some excellent individuals who will graduate. We are still considered a young team and plan another fine season next year right where we left off this year. It was a pleasure to work with such a fine group of individuals. I'm sure Coach Rech will agree with me this squad has given us many fine memories which we will cherish for a lifetime. I hope we have given these individuals something to remember us by. (Remember the workouts, guys?)"

Five wrestlers earned a trip to State. They were Dan Kresha, Brad Kresha, Frank Allen, Lane Cooper, and Keith Stara. Dan won the Class C Championship at 119 pounds. Keith placed 6th in Class C at the heavyweight position.

Other achievements were made by Frank Allen who became a two-time Central 10 Champion and Keith Stara who was invited to Albion to wrestle against a German exchange heavyweight opponent.

TEAMWORK IS THE KEY

This year the Scouts had their first winning season in the four years that they have had basketball. They were coached by newcoming coach, Jim Masek. The girl athletes started off with 6 wins and 7 losses. They then went on to win districts. Their next game was regionals and their opponent was Logan View. They ended the season after the first round of state basketball while their opponent Hastings St. Cecilia remained undefeated in their 3 years of girls' basketball.

Coach Masek summed up the year by saying, "The season was rewarding for everyone on the team including players, coaches, and managers. Excellent teamwork was the key to success at the end of the season when we won 5 games in a row before losing to state champions, Hastings St. Cecilia. Participation in the state tournament was an experience that highlighted a successful season and will not be forgotten."

At Howells Holiday Tournaments, Anne Montag, Kim Otte, and Paula Hlavac were honored when they were chosen for the all-tournament team. At the end of the year the girls who made All-Conference East were Max Martin, Anne Montag, and Kim Otte. Anne Montag also received Honorable Mention in both the Omaha World-Herald and the Lincoln Star.

SENIORS LEAD CAGERS

The Scout cagers, lead by five seniors who ended their careers 8-9 overall, had a good season. They scored victories over Wahoo, Ord, Clarkson, Fullerton, Lakeview, Grand Island Northwest and Stromsburg (twice). In their nine losses the cagers lost by less than ten points in five of the games. The Scouts averaged 60.2 a game while giving up 65.5 a game. The team set several records such as best field goal percentage in a single game (against Stromsburg), most free throws in a single game (against Clarkson), most points scored in an overtime period (against GINW), and most field goals in a single game (against Stromsburg). Two Scout players also had individual records. Mark Chaney scored the most field goals in a game (against Wahoo), best scoring average for a season, (19.9), most assists in a career (111), best field goal percentage for a single game (71.4) based on 10-14 attempts, and best field goal percentage for a single game (77.3) based on 20 or more attempts. Kim Grubaugh also set the school record in most rebounds in a game (21 against GINW). Mark also was on the All State and Central Ten Conference first teams while Kim received honorable mention on the C-10 East Cage Squad.

GOLFERS TRY HARD, BUT

This year was a successful year for our golfers. Though there was not much practice time due to the constant rain and at one time even snow, the varsity golfers ended the year with a dual record or two and one. The only loss was to Schuyler. This year there were only five returning lettermen. They were Gordon Kucera, Todd Norton, Mitch Heins, Mike Schmid, and Mark Hecker.

Another main achievement was that four of our golfers qualified for STATE which was held at Nelson and placed eighth.

INJURIES HURT TRACK TEAM

Injuries along with bad weather marred the track season for the boy tracksters. An injury to co-captain, Rick Prochaska, prevented him from participating in district action. Also, many nagging scrapes hurt many of the tracksters this year. Rain and cold temperatures hurt runner's times and jumper's jumping distances. Despite these odds, the tracksters placed third at the Crete indoor, first in our dual competitions, and runner-up in districts with 77 points. The young Scouts (freshmen) had a good season with a second place finish in our own invite. One record was set this year. It was Jim Heins in the pole vault, vaulting 12 feet. Our school was represented by three people at state. They were Kim Grubaugh in the 100, 220, and the discus; Mark Chaney in the 880; and Jim Heins in the pole vault. The only one to place was Kim Grubaugh in the 100 yard dash, receiving a second place medal.

This year's girls' track season was hampered by bad weather. Despite the bad weather there were still records broken. Among these records were the 220 yard dash set by Kendra Struebing with a time of 27.2. Pam Hanis set a new 880 yard run record with a time of 2:38.7. The high jump and the long jump records were set by Paula Hlavac with jumps of 5 feet and 16 feet 9 $\frac{3}{4}$ inches, respectively. With such outstanding jumps, Paula attended the State Track Meet in North Platte on May 11 and 12. She qualified for the state meet in the long jump and placed fifth.

Kim Otte stands by as her hero, Anne Montag, throws the shot.

Paula Hlavac represented us at the State Track Meet in the long jump.

Meg Klosterman shows her terror as she prepares to run her favorite event, the 440.

The day Homecoming sailed away
May 17 — the day of "The Great Escape"
The night we all had "Too Much Heaven"

COME SAIL AWAY

Homecoming 1978 was a very high flying experience, especially when the center of attraction was a sixteen-foot balloon. The multi-colored decorations and balloons revolved around a theme of "Come Sail Away". The musical entertainment was provided by Blue Haze.

The night started well with the football team winning its first homecoming in five years when they defeated Ashland, 14-0. After the game the coronation and dance were held in the gymnasium. Second attendants were Mark Chaney and Bonnie DeWittelare (Middle Right) and first attendants were Mark Hecker and Brenda Brockevoll (Top Left). Crowned as king and queen by last year's royalty, Steve Bartlett and Sharon Svoboda, were Kim Grubaugh and Lori Lnenicka.

Above we see three cheerleaders from the 50's (Renee Comte, Kim Jenkins, and Paula Hlavac) showing their cheering ability to three cheerleaders from the 70's (Nancy Whitmore, Jennifer Heins, and Kelly Gregory) who seem to be unimpressed.

Getting into the spirit, Brian McCoy proves or disproves Euell Gibbons' theory that "many parts are edible."

"Blue Haze" played for the dance.

Everyone does their part to see that "Scout pride will survive."

Putting their excess wind to use are Kelly Gregory, Jennifer Heins, and Sue Kadavy.

Here we see two brave souls (Tom Miller and James Weber) trying to put up the giant balloon.

Lori Boggs and Pam Bartlett carry streamers as Shelly Meysenburg hangs streamers in the background.

The dangerous jobs were left to the macho men who scaled the wobbling ladders.

THE NOT READY FOR PRIME TIME PLAYERS PRESENT LI'L ABNER

This year the Fine Arts Department presented "Li'l Abner". The musical is based on the life of the Yokum family and their neighbors living in the town of Dogpatch, U.S.A. Senator Jack S. Phogbound (Mark Doehling) declares that since Dogpatch is the most unnecessary town in the U.S.A., it will have to be blown off the map unless something absolutely necessary is found. At the point of almost giving up, Mammy (Patti Barlena) and Pappy (Greg Palik) Yokum come up with their Yokumberry tonic. This tonic proves to build little scrawny boys into big beautiful men. Her proof of this is her son Abner (Randy McElravy). Abner and Marryin' Sam (Brian Foreman) are sent to Washington D.C. for some tests. The notorious General Bullmoose (Mitch Heins) and his confidential secretary (Lori Lnenicka) hear about the new discovery and plot to steal it. Their weapon is Evil Eye Fleagle (Lane Sabata) who can stop people dead in their tracks with his "whammy." Meanwhile young romances are starting. Daisy Mae (Anna Klosterman) plans to catch Abner at the Sadie Hawkins Day race, but Earthquake McGoon (Kim Grubaugh) wants Daisy for his wife. As the plot thickens, Daisy is bound to be Earthquake's wife and Abner has been captured by Bullmoose and will marry Appasionata. Pappy finally discovers that while the Yokumberry tonic makes men irresistible, it also makes them ignore women. Pappy gives Abner another potion which makes his crazy for Daisy Mae.

Meanwhile Marryin' Sam is stalling and telling Earthquake about the pitfalls of marriage. After hearing this, he is glad to let Abner marry Daisy. In the end it all turns up roses for Daisy and Abner and the Dogpatch citizens live happily ever after. Other students involved in the play were Terry Kovar, Gordon Kucera, Andy Hruska, Kim Otte, Joe Hruska, Cindy Schrader, Kent Clymer, Rhesa Gilliland, James Kindler, Joe Kreizinger, Judy Irons, Mike Henry, Kim Norton, Marvis Hunsche, Carmen Romshek, Renee Comte, Carolyn Romshek, Nancy Klingemann, Bonnie DeWispelare, Peg Kovar, Brenda Brockevelt, Tom Danaher, Shelley O'Dell, Lori Boggs, Julie Bykerk, Joey Sabata, Jeff Novak, Kevin Woita, Pete Kaufmann, Rick Prochaska, Keith Stara, Lane Cooper, Julie Zeilinger, Marla Hunsche, Todd Montgomery, Ann St. Clair, David Struebing, and Teresa Tomek. The pit band consisted of Sue Armagost, Julie Rathje, Doris Graybill, Barb Mahlin, Meg Klosterman, Karen Zinnecker, Anne Montag, Donna Marquis, Jennifer Heins, and Mike Morris. Li'l Abner was directed by Mr. Warren and Miss Haag. Mr. Hutchinson was band director and costuming was done by Miss Petersen. Stage managers were Lori Cermak and Sue Schmit. Stage sets were designed by our own talented Brian McCoy.

Marryin' Sam tells about the problems of married life.

It's a typical day in Dogpatch U.S.A.

Marryin' Sam (Brian Foreman) explains to Earthquake (Kim Grubaugh) just how spectacular his eight dollar wedding is.

Daisy Mae, Marryin' Sam, Mammy, and Pappy plan together to find a way to save Abner's life and rescue him from the fate of General Bullmoose.

The devious General Bullmoose (Mitch Heins) stands stupidly stock still after being "whammied" by his own Evil Eye Fleagle. Once again the forces of good rule over the forces of evil and the truth prevails.

Abner returns home from Washington D.C. with Marryin's Sam as the Dogpatchers greet them.

Appasionata Von Climax (General Bullmoose's confidential secretary) tells how to capture Yokum as Evil Eye Fleagle listens. If Yokum gets drunk, E.E. Fleagle can put on his truth whammv.

After days and days of testing, the scientists of the secret laboratory conclude that Yokumberry tonic does turn scrawny men into big beautiful hunks.

Abner declares that Earthquake is a gentleman and seals it' with a handshake.

DCHS PRESENTS CHEAPER

This year's all school play, "Cheaper by the Dozen," was directed by Sue Petersen with help from Steve Warren, Georgia Haag, and Ed Hutchinson. This play centers around the father (Mitch Heins) who has a passion for organization and wants everything in tip-toe shape. He has all his family believing that this is correct until his daughter Anne (Anna Klosterman) awakens him. She starts thinking about boys and silk socks and he disapproves. His wife (Rhesa Gilliland) helps him realize that he must let her grow up before he leaves to die. Other members of the family are Ernestine (Bonnie DeWispelare), Frank (Joe Kreizinger), Jackie (Renee Comte), Dan (Lane Sabata), Bill (Randy McElravy), Fred (Andy Hruska), Lillian (Gina Navrkal), and Martha (Shelley O'Dell). Patti Barlean is their maid, Mrs. Fitzgerald; Rick Prochaska is Dr. Burton; Marvis Hunsche is Miss Brill; and Chuck Jenkins and Kim Grubaugh (Joe Scales and Larry) are two boys interested in Anne.

Mr. Gilbreth (Mitch) tells Anne (Anna) that she can go to the prom as the rest of the family watches.

Members of the cast (seated): Shelley O'Dell, Renee Comte, Gina Navrkal, Randy McElravy, Marvis Hunsche, Patti Barlean, and Bonnie DeWispelare. Standing are Lane Sabata, Anna Klosterman, Andy Hruska, Rhesa Gilliland, Mitch Heins, Rick Prochaska, Chuck Jenkins, Kim Grubaugh, and Joe Kreizinger.

BY THE DOZEN

Mrs. Gilbreth (Rhesa) tells the maid, Mrs. Fitzgerald (Patti) that she will not have to work as hard anymore.

Frank (Joe) and Ernestine (Bonnie) talk of the old days.

Anne (Anna) tells Larry (Kim) that she can't go to prom with him.

Some of the members of stage crew busy at work.

RICK AND SUE REIGN OVER CORONATION

Second attendants for this year were Kirk Marushak and Deb Hanis. First attendants were Carolyn Romshek and Bob Speicher.

Coronation candidates are (Front Row): Deb Hanis,
Connie Fuxa, Deb
Chmelka, Carolyn Rom-
shek, Doris Graybill
(Second Row): Sue
Schmit, Lori Cermak,
Peggy Kovar, Donna
Schultz (Third Row):
Lane Sabata, Kirk Maru-
shak, Bob Speicher, Rick
Prochaska (Back Row):
Joe Kreizinger, Vic Po-
korny, Mike Ostry, Terry
Kovar.

A NIGHT TO REMEMBER

The theme for the '78-'79 Coronation was "Forever Autumn." The gym was brightly decorated with autumn colors and set the mood for the thrilling evening. Decorations were done by fellow FFA and FHA members. All candidates must be Seniors and also a member for at least two years. No doubt Rick Prochaska and Sue Schmit had a night to remember after being crowned King and Queen.

Marty and Norbert are finally caught in the act of holding hands.

Jack and Darin take time out for a little publicity.

King and Queen show the crowd how to dance.

WAS THERE "TOO MUCH HEAVEN"?

The 1979 Jr.-Sr. Prom was held in the evening on the fifth of May. The theme, chosen by the Juniors, was "Too Much Heaven". The banquet started at 6:30 and the dance started at 8:30. The banquet meal consisted of a jello salad, swiss steak, a baked potato, corn, and fruit punch to drink. For dessert ice cream sundaes were served with a choice of vanilla or strawberry.

There was about an hour break between the banquet and dance. This was to give the Prom Servers time to clean the tables and give the band, Problem Child, time to set up.

When the dance started, the 1979 Prom Royalty was announced. The King was Marvin Svoboda and the Queen was Connie Fuxa (center). The first attendants were Gordon Kucera and Mary Lou Petersen (lower right). The second attendants were Frank Allen and Kristie Gregory (lower left).

P.S. In the opinion of most, there was not "Too Much Heaven" at Prom this year. In fact there was too much Devil in everyone and not enough Angel.

"Did somebody say pass the butter?"

GLAMOUR, SUSPENSE FILL

The annual Awards Night was held May 1, with the banquet starting at 6:30 followed by the presentations of the most distinguished awards of the year. These coveted awards were presented by the members of the academy of secondary education. Honor was given for achievement in academics, athletics, and the fine arts.

Right: The Master of Ceremonies, Mr. Theodore Koehn, is escorted from his car by his chauffeur, Mr. Edward Hutchinson, as a crowd of fans gather to catch a glimpse of the star.

Miss Krueger gives Max Martin the outstanding pep club member award.

Mr. Jones presents Nancy Klingemann and Frank Allen the D.C. Club award for scholastic achievement.

Bernie Egr of the Mrs. Jaycees presented Anne Montag the girl athlete of the year award, while Larry Rasmussen of the Fellowship Club, presented Mark Chaney and Kim Grubaugh the boys athletes of the year award.

STAR-STUDDDED EVENING

Dave Beran says, "Oh, I really don't deserve this," as he practices his acceptance speech at the banquet.

Mitch Heins scoops up three awards as he receives the Louis Armstrong and John Phillip Sousa awards from Mr. Hutchinson and the Choir award from Miss Haag.

Patti Barlean is shown here with the fine arts award she received at the academy presentations. The camera crew was unable to get a picture that night.

Mr. Steve Rose, senior English teacher, gives Becky Ross the Owl's Club award for the outstanding senior English student.

The special award for the evening was given to Mr. Kamrath by Kim Grubaugh for supporting the junior and senior boys in athletics.

PERFORMANCES HONORED

A pot luck dinner started off the 1978-1979 Thespian Banquet. The dinner was followed by a performance of the One-Act Play, "The Lesson." As the night commenced, new officers were sworn in. New members were then initiated. They were Lori Cermak, Lane Cooper, Ton Danaher, Marvis Hunsche, Joe Kreizinger, Kim Otte, Julie Rathje, Carmen Romshak, Lane Sabata, and Julie Zeilinger. The finale of the evening came when the acting awards were presented. The performances were judged by Rena Rech, Miny Smith, Ruth Zeilinger, Katie Coleman, and Gayle Eberly.

Nancy Klingemann received the Best Thespian Award for her extra efforts.

Best Actor Award was given to Brian Foreman for his portrayal of Marryin' Sam in "Li'l Abner."

The Best Supporting Actor was received by Mitchell Heins for his role as General Bullmoose in "Li'l Abner."

Rhesa Gilliland was chosen as the Best Actress in "Cheaper by the Dozen" as Mrs. Gilbreth.

Patti Barlean was selected as Best Supporting Actress for her character, Mammy Yokum, in "Li'l Abner."

SENIORS LEAVE MEMORIES

Graduation exercises marked the ending of twelve years of school for this year's seniors. From those twelve years, the seniors have many memories which won't be easily forgotten. Like most endings, graduation too, had its share of sadness as underclassmen and friends weren't easily left behind. Yet, graduation was a beginning; a new start in life as the class of seventy-nine took their first step into the adult world. Tom Fiala, the class valedictorian, taped his farewell address and through the marvels of communication, his fellow classmates heard him speak about meeting the challenge of living in today's world. Despite the fact that he suffered from muscular dystrophy and had to study from his home since the eighth grade, Tom Fiala led his class scholastically. The fifty-nine graduates are sure to have many trials before them as they take their places in the world. If they follow Tom Fiala's leadership, they are sure to succeed for his determination and perseverance are definitely qualities of a winner.

FRANK, LORI & SPEAK OF NEW BEGINNING

Senior class salutatorian, Frank Allen, and president, Lori Lnenicka, give inspiring words to those attending graduation.

Above Left: Rick and Victor getting ready to make their mark on the world.

Right: Mrs. Fadschild, a 40 year teacher in Butler County, receives the honorary diploma for her outstanding service to the community as a teacher.

Seniors Rick Prochaska, Betsy Frahm, Chris Masek, and Carolyn Romshek rejoice on their last day of school.

Brenda thanks God for letting her graduate.

Teaching is to "touch a life forever ..." No words could better describe Mrs. Fadschild or the influence that she has had on the hundreds which she has taught throughout her 18 years at D.C.H.S. The outstanding education which she has provided so many with can be matched only by her love of giving. Our lives are all the more richer for having her as a teacher.
