Quote this. Cite that. Indent this. Paraphrase this. Use better word choice. Make sure your paper has voice!

English, the class where reading and writing is literally the only things you do. Starting back in time with great writers such as Shakespeare, English has a huge role on everyone's lives. The desire of literacy has grown among students.

Of course, you cover other material in English. For seniors, their biggest challenge this year was their thesis paper. Students were to come up with a topic and do research over it, eventually putting it into one big paper that had to be at least six pages long. When everything was said and done, the process took an entire month.

In junior English, teacher Mr. Ockander assigned readings such as Of Mice and Men, and The Giver. Along the way, students were required to fill out several reading comprehension sheets and finish projects at the end of the book.

English is one class that will never go away. And as long as it's here, everyone will know how to read and write papers, skills that they'll carry with them for the rest of their lives.

Marching to Our Own Beat

Playing songs like Don't Stop Believein' by Journey, DCHS enjoys their second year of being an official marching band during half-time at football games. This year, the band played the aforementioned song along with Last Friday Night (T.G.I.F) by Katy Perry and Welcome to the Black Parade by My Chemical Romance. Being as these songs are either fairly new or well-known, these songs were easy for the students to play

Band is a great way for students to get involved. Some students have been involved for all four years of high school, and some have decided to try something new and just joined this year. "My favorite part would be the trips up and back from our marching band competitions," says senior Megan F. There is always one part of band that a student happens to enjoy and for Megan, it was the trips for marching band.

DCHS's band does other things besides marching. They also have at-school performances such as the Think Beyond the Bubbles which was the title of their spring concert. Along with this, the different branches of the army came in, and the school held an assembly for them. During this assembly, the high school band had the honor of playing all of the theme songs for each different branch.

Along with this, individual band members are able to sign up for different types of honor bands. In Doane Honor Band, the following made it: seniors Davianne C. and Megan F., juniors Ruth B. and Wesley U., and sophomore Kylie H. with senior Kelsey S. as an alternative. Along with that, Davianne C. made UNK and UNO Honor Band. Kylie H. made Concordia Honor Band. Finally, in WSC Honor Band, the following made it: senior Davianne C., sophomore Kylie H., and freshman Bethany T. Congratulations!

Finally, the band has one more big event that they choose to participate in. They spend the end of the first semester and all of second semester preparing for it, and they attend with the DCHS choir. This event is District Music Contest. The band travels to Central Community College in Columbus where they sit in front of a set amount of judges and play the songs they've been practicing. The judges grade them based on appearance, intonation, quality, and other factors on a scale of 1-5 (five being the worst and one being the best). This year, the band got a 3.

Academics

A Year In One Book

Yearbook, otherwise known as Graphic Design 2, is one of the many ways students at DCHS can get involved. Graphic Design 2 combines knowledge of InDesign and Photoshop with a little splash of photography. Students enjoy putting together the entire yearbook for their current year and capturing their favorite memories.

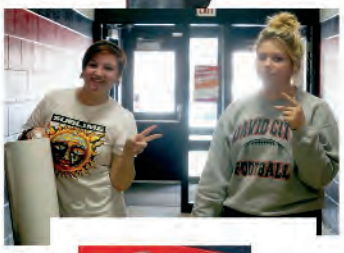

The yearbook staff is generally pretty small, so it's one class where students have an opportunity to get close to each other and have a fun time doing it. The beginning of the year starts out with the staff coming together and trying to figure out a theme that will be carried through the entire book. The themes that were thought of this year were all amazing and fun, but the staff decided to go with Push The Rewind. In this theme, the staff made the book start with the closing and end with the table of contents. Everything in the book is backwards!

This year, the staff consisted of two seniors (Kylie S. and Catherine S.), six juniors (Maya P., Nicole B., Macy G., Megan H., Morgan R., and Waleed R.), and one sophomore (Becca M.). Under the supervision of Mrs. Margaret Detmer, the yearbook ideas were flowing all year. Between the smiles and laughs and the crazy arguments between Becca and Waleed, this years yearbook was a success.

The Crayon Map

A different twist, a different taste
by Nicole B.

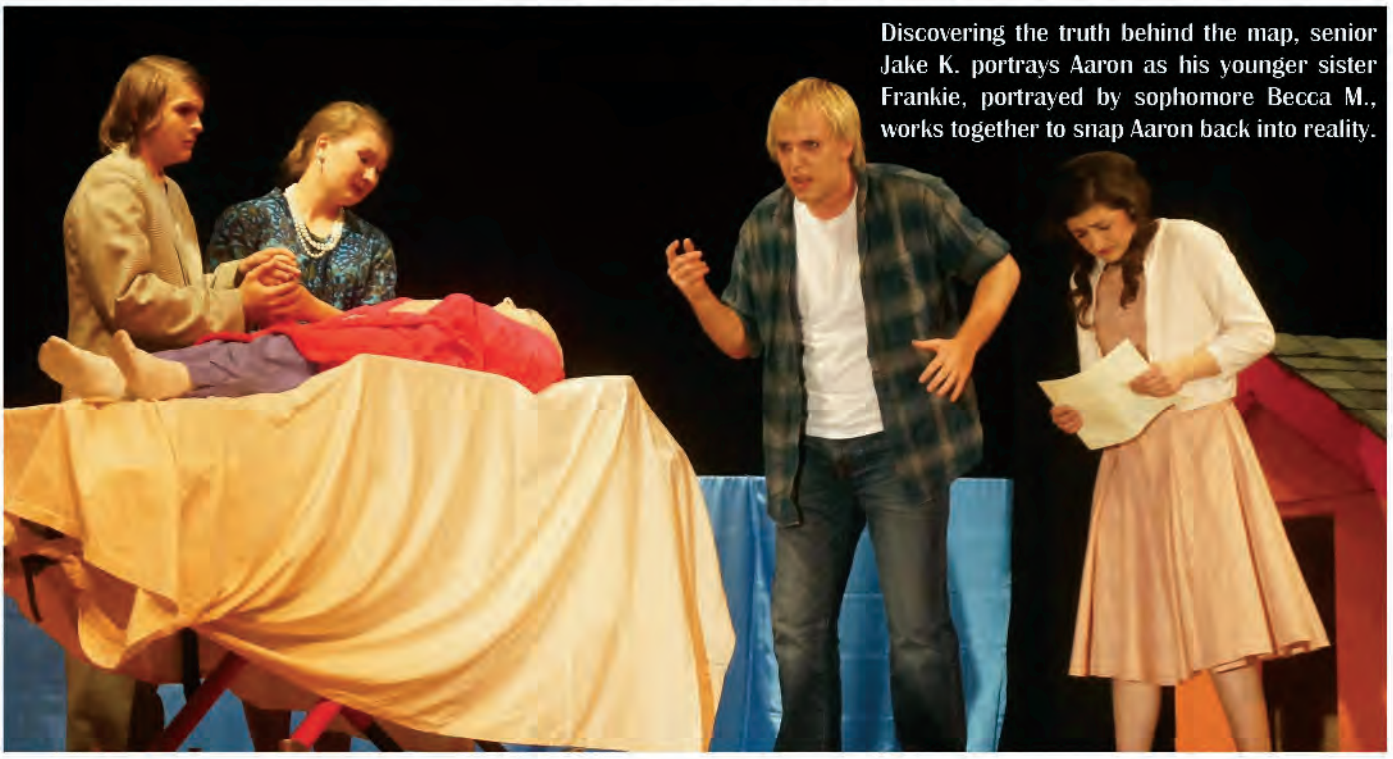

The 2014 David City High School One Act team met a great deal of their goals while producing their championship-level performance. During the production of "The Crayon Map" by Oliver Leslie and Christpher Marianetti, the cast made audiences laugh with the hysterics of Spanish-talking flowers, dancing fish, and crazy doctors. However, it also dug deep into audience members and made them cry with the realization that Frankie, a young girl diagnosed with cancer, has died. The One Act team was able to claim their fourth consecutive SNC Conference Championship.

At Conference, sophomore Becca M., portraying Frankie, was named Best Actress. Other actors and actresses receiving awards included sophomore Nathan K., juniors Nicole B., Matthew L., Mariah H., and seniors Allegra H. and Jake K.

At Districts, the One Act team finished third, behind eventual Class B State Champion York. Actors and actresses receiving awards included freshman Jackson H., sophomore Nathan K., juniors Nicole B., Matthew L., Mariah H., Sabra M., and seniors Allegra H., Megan F., and Jake K.

The One Act team used strong teamwork in order to travel with the play from place to place. From make-up, to lights, to sound, to the cast and crew, as long as every group worked together, a superb performance was delivered.

Dribble, Drive, Dominate

The girls had quite the season this year after gaining new coaches and finishing their season strong with a 13-11 record. Head Coach Nathan Wall states the girls' success was based off their hard work in practice and their ability to become mentally tougher. Things started to change after the girls lost to North Bend on Dec. 6. With this being their first loss of the season, the girls used this as motivation as they came back hungrier for their next win. Wall had big aspirations for the girls and boys basketball programs as they both continue to stay competitive and play at the best of their ability. Wall enjoys being around the girls as he feels teaching and coaching are two of the most rewarding professions that a person could have. The girls learned how to win and how to finish off a win. Wall will continue to make progress with the girl's basketball team in the future.

Coach's View

"I thought overall our defense really improved over the course of the year. Early in the year, we were fortunate to outscore our opponents during some of our early success. As the season progressed, we did not win as many games, but our defense was extremely important in the games we came out on top."

"I really enjoyed coaching all of the seniors, as we are going to miss them a lot next year. (Ben D., Jonah S., Cody S., Adam R., and Cody N.) They all brought positive things to the team, and they really set the bar high for the younger kids. I was really impressed with how they bought into the things that I introduced to them as a new coach. Without their willingness to work hard and believing in these new things I was proposing, we would not have been near as successful as a team." - Coach Ben Knobbe

New Coach, New Season

When I took the job I was very excited. I had seen the record from the previous years and thought to myself the only place for these girls is to go up. After taking the job, there was a lot of planning that needed to be done. We started off in the summer with summer league, weights, open gym, and a team camp. Here is where I built relation-ships with the girls and understanding them. I knew that we had a lot of work to do from the first league game that we played. I introduced a lot of new things to these girls about the game. I always told them that I am not only teaching them volley-ball lessons, but life long lessons as well. They improved through-out the summer and then in the season as well. I look back at where they started at the beginning of the summer to the end of the season, there were tremendous strides. I commend my athletes for sticking with it through the season. They had to balance school as well as all of this new stuff within a new head coach.

"I am looking forward to coaching a young group of kids who are willing to do anything I ask them to do. I am excited to see some younger kinds step up and fill the shoes of the graduates. I am also excited to start practice in the fall."
- Coach Anthony Ferg

Softball

"Throughout the season, we had two major goals: to break the team batting average and to break the team fielding percentage. We managed to break the batting average with a 296 by working hard during the drills. Some of the big wins we had were against Central City, who made it to the state tournament, and against Polk County with just an overall great game on our part. At the end of the season I thought we performed about as well as I expected. It was one of those seasons that was both rewarding and frustrating at the same time. I thought that we beat the teams that we should have and maybe even picked up a couple of other wins from good teams. It was frustrating in the fact that we didn't play as well as we could have at times but we also had to deal with all of the rain which made it hard to practice. I'm proud of our seniors and I look forward to next year's season."

Counting their push ups, the Platinum Dancers collaborate with the senior varsity football players in their annual homecoming guy-girl dance held downtown.

Dance

Hitting an "L" pose, junior Jesse G. participates in a group cheer along with her fellow cheer and dance teams.

Getting her scare on, sophomore Allie I. poses for the picture before the dance team performs their first ever Halloween dance at the last home football game on Oct. 17.

The David City High School Platinum Dance Team has had quite the year. Kicking off their season in the summer, the team attended various dance camps to help better their skills for the upcoming year. The team won many awards, representing David City well at their annual NDA Dance Camp in the summer. Along with the cheer team, the dance team organized homecoming, with their theme "The Roaring 20's." Performing at various football and basketball games, the dance team ended their season at the Boys Basketball Sub-District Tournament. The dance team was coached by Mrs. Ainslee Kroenke and consisted of eleven members.

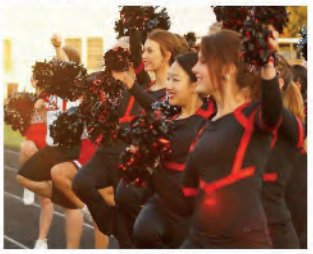

Performing a right leap, senior Ty H. dances in the Platinum Dancer's pom performance to "Everybody Dance Now."

This is everyone's favorite week of the year....
IT'S HOMECOMING!

First, you have the pep-rally the Friday before the actual homecoming week. During this, the dress-up days, rules according to these days, and homecoming candidates are announced.

Second, you have your actual homecoming week. This the week where students do their best to show how much spirit and excitement they have for their school and for homecoming. The cheer and dance teams collaborate beforehand to come up with the most silly and spontaneous days. Students in grades seventh through twelfth are allowed to participate.

Third, you have your homecoming pep-rally. Seniors have their own float while the rest of the students and staff follow behind. Downtown, cheer shows off a dance they created, senior football boys do a dance with the dance team, and teachers are required to do hilariously stupid things. This year, there was a massive Cupid Shuffle.

Finally, the moment we've all been waiting for.... the homecoming dance! Boys play their football game while girls go home at half-time to do their make-up and put on their breathtaking dresses. After the boys WIN their game (which was against North Bend this year), everyone meets up at the auditorium for a night of fun and, for the seniors, memories of their last homecoming in high school.

The theme for homecoming this year was The Roaring 20's and it's safe to say that it was a wonderful success.

Seniors Say....

Q: What was your favorite part about senior year? What was the easiest? Hardest?
A: "My favorite part is getting to spend the last year with the best of friends I've made memories with. The easiest is there is always help from friends and teachers. The hardest is making sure you have everything needed to graduate and getting stuff ready for college." -Sarah M.

Q: How did you overcome "senioritis?"
A: "I can't really say I've 'overcome' senioritis, however, I've coped with it. I have days where I legitimately do not want to come to school, but I tell myself that I can't just sleep until noon for the rest of my life if I really want to become something important, so I should at least get out of bed and go to school." -Emily W.

"I just tried to stay focused on the road ahead." -Lucaus V.

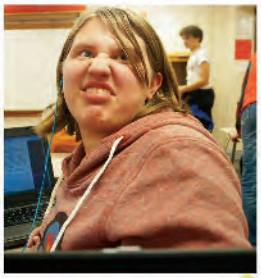

Q:What is going to be the most memorable experienece?
A: "So far, it has been that i got to give a high-five to a ref as I was coming out of a basketball game." -Megan F.

"My most memorable experience was making new friends and reuniting with old ones.Friends make the memories, not the place or destination. It is all about who is along for the ride." -Tayler B.

Q: Do you have any advice to next year's seniors?
A: "Don't count the days; make the days count. This year flew by so fast. I literally blinked, and it was gone. Make your senior year memorable!" -Kendra T.

"Don't be afraid to stand out. It's your senior year, your last year to leave your mark on the school. Go out with a bang. You want everyone to remember you. Don't be afraid to try new things either. If you're thinking about doing it, do it. You don't want to regret anything later on." -Kylie S.
